CITY FARES WELL IN TRIAL OF APPEALS IN THE DISTRICT COURT

In the district court yesterday Judge Herbert F. Reynolds cleared the dock of all cases pending on appeal from the police court of the city of Albuquerque. The city fared well during the term, winning seven out of the eight cases on the docket, one case being dismissed because the witnesses for the city had left town.

In two cases bonds were forfeited because of the failure of defendants to appear in the district court as a result of which the police department receipts were increased $363.55 in real money, the city having levied an execution against the property of bondsmen. All cases in which the judgment of the police court was sustained this term were tried before Judge McClellan and prosecuted by City Attorney W. A. Kelcher.

REPORT FOR ARMY OFFICERS' BOARD NEARLY COMPLETE

Committee Will Be Prepared to Submit Albuquerque's Qualifications for Division Camp Shortly.

The preparation of Albuquerque's case for presentation to the board of army officers, which will select the point at which New Mexico's divisional training camp is to be established, had been nearly completed last night, the committee announced.

Committee members, subcommittee members and individuals have been working since shortly after official announcement of the coming of the board was made and by last night they had collected all data and information, which, they believed, would interest the army officers and influence their decision.

The committee declined to make public the contents of its report, which is to be submitted to the officers, on the ground that it would be improper information in view of the known fact that other points are making frank efforts to get the camp. Committee members said, however, that they were prepared to answer the board's questions categorically and to add a mass of unasked-for information which, they believed, would bear weight with the board.

Personnel of Board.
Announcement of the personnel of the board, aside from Brig. Gen. Henry A. Greene, indicated that the suitability of the site would be considered from the viewpoint of every essential department of military science. The board includes an officer of the engineer corps, an officer of the medical corps, an officer of the quartermaster's corps and an officer of infantry in addition to General Greene, commander of the First infantry brigade. The members of the board, besides General Greene, are Lieut. Col. W. H. Bertsch, quartermaster's corps; Lieut. Col. W. W. Walker, engineer corps; Lieut. Col. James Kennedy, medical corps, and Lieut. Col. S. V. Ham, Seventh infantry.

The committee will hand the officers a map of the mesa site. The map has already been drawn by City Engineer Edmund Ross, showing every ranch and piece of leased or privately owned land on the tract. The committee hopes to be able to tell the officers that the government can lease every foot of the tract, and to that end a meeting of land owners of the mesa has been called for Monday night at the Commercial club. Col. D. K. B. Sellers, a member of the committee, called upon nearly all of the owners yesterday and urged them to attend the meeting.

Will Start Work on Guard Camp.
Energetic preparations for the reception of the army officers have not been permitted to interfere with the carrying out of plans for the national guard camp, although the same committee has charge of both projects. The work of digging the ditch for the water main and stringing electric wires to the guard camp site will be started Monday. The guard camp site, it is expected, will be ready for occupancy by the end of this week.

Several hundred guardsmen are ready to entrain for Albuquerque now, according to reports reaching here, and they probably will start as soon as the announcement is made that the camp is ready for them. Guard organizations will move to the mobilization camp as soon as they are recruited to 100 members. While no contingents of less than 100 will come from cities or towns having companies, smaller contingents will come from those that have not, to be assigned to companies upon their arrival here.

HAVE TOUGH (?) LUCK DRILLING FOR WATER; GET OIL EVERY TIME

Bridger, Mont., May 18.—The C. B. & Q. railroad seems to be out of luck in drilling water wells on the Bridger anti-cline—just brought in another oil well. The oil men hereabout are saying "another Elk basin," and we are beginning to believe it.

The world famous Elk basin is an almost perfect anti-clinal, or dome, and now boasts of forty-four flowing wells. Judging from the activity therein many more wells will be flowing before the summer is over. Ohio, Midwest, Interstate, Robin-Hood and Bridger company are about to bring in new wells.

This city offers an unusual opportunity for location of a new up-to-date flour mill. The acreage of wheat in the Rio Grande valley has increased immensely and will continue to enlarge. This soil and climate are especially suited to wheat production. Wheat from here took first premium at the World's fair in Chicago. Further information furnished without cost as to profits in the business, and where to buy machinery. How and where capital may be gotten to finance the business.

Build a home in University Heights. LONG SESSION HELD OVER MAN CHARGED WITH DRUNKENNESS

After a session which lasted more than an hour, George Sturdivant, said to be proprietor of a roadhouse, was fined $5 and costs in police court yesterday afternoon on the charge of drunkenness.

Sturdivant was arrested by Capt. Pat O'Grady at Sixth street and Central avenue Friday night as he was about to get into his automobile. According to testimony, Sturdivant and a party of others had had drinks of "small beers" at a downtown bar and at two saloons in Old Albuquerque. Captain O'Grady said Sturdivant was drunk. The members of the party, all of whom were witnesses for the defense, testified that Sturdivant was not drunk. Harry Cornell, of Heacock & Cornell, was counsel for the defense.
